

Take it to the Streets

Scripture

“Listen to Me, you who know righteousness, You people in whose heart [is] My law: Do not fear the reproach of men, Nor be afraid of their insults. For the moth will eat them up like a garment, And the worm will eat them like wool; But My righteousness will be forever, And My salvation from generation to generation.” (Isa 51:7-8 NKJV)

Devotion

It is time for believers to take it to the streets. When times are uncertain and fear looms over the heads of men, they often look to the heavens for an answer. These are troubling days. Economies are falling, perversion is increasing, and ideological hatred is driving people to commit atrocities against innocent people.

Listen to God. He tells us not to fear the insults of men. They will not last, those who would seek your harm. Go out and proclaim the good news for only God’s righteousness will endure forever.

Love compels us to have compassion on a lost and dying world. How can we shut up our hearts when so many need the light of Christ?

This is not a call for you to become enslaved to a church program, but it is a call for believers to prayerfully seek opportunities to proclaim Christ to others. Will we be ashamed of the One who has set us free? When Christ returns will He find faithful servants?

“Son of man, I have made you a watchman for the house of Israel; therefore hear a word from My mouth, and give them warning from Me: When I say to the wicked, ‘You shall surely die,’ and you give him no warning, nor speak to warn the wicked from his wicked way, to save his life, that same wicked [man] shall die in his iniquity; but his blood I will require at your hand. Yet, if you warn the wicked, and he does not turn from his wickedness, nor from his wicked way, he shall die in his iniquity; but you have delivered your soul” (Ezek. 3:17-19 NKJV).
